Working Bee
Thank you to all of our families who attended the Working Bee. Much was achieved on the day and many hands certainly did make light work. The big job to be completed was the erection of the fence around the bush tucker garden and the installation of signs at our Landcare sites. This was really hard work and we thank all who participated.

I would like to give a big thank you to the Kruschel family, who organised and provided food for the barbecue, and to Annie who made everything happen behind the scenes. I am always proud to see our kids working alongside their parents to create a school, which looks beautiful and well cared for. So many people comment on this when they visit us.

SAPSASA Basketball
Our students competed in the SAPSASA Small Schools Basketball Tournament in Mannum recently. As usual, our community supported us well. Nathan Hutchinson coached both teams. The students really appreciated his expertise and were very grateful for his commitment. Bob Hancock drove the bus over for us. Connor Smelt umpired the games in which he did not play and was presented with the Most Valuable Player award. (By the way, Connor was also featured in the SA Footy Budget recently, but he doesn’t want me to tell you that!)

Our girls (pictured above) improved in each game they played and achieved a very credible third. Our boys were unbeatable and left all in their wake, however this was done with grace and good sportsmanship. I was very proud of all of our students.

Come and Try
As part of our healthy eating program, we have started using the garden produce to give our students the opportunity to try veggies they may not have tried before. A number of parents have approached me about the cauliflower and broccoli turnovers we made a few weeks ago and would like the recipe. These are simple to make. Just make a cheese sauce and add the cauliflower and broccoli. The trick to a yummy cheese sauce is some parmesan cheese as well as cheddar!

The following percentages of students tried the turnovers. JPR: 55%, JP1/2: 48%, LMP: 41%, MP: 36% and UP: 97%. As the Uppers made the turnovers, this shows us that if kids help to make the food, they are more likely to eat it. There might be a lesson there for us all.

Teamwork
Integrity
Generosity of Spirit
Excellence
Respect
We used the bok choy to make spring rolls for the whole school last week. These were very, very popular. We also tried raw broccoli and steamed broccoli with mint sauce.

We will be making the cauliflower and broccoli turnovers again soon and we hope to improve the number of kids having a try.

Jervois Sports’ Day
Thank you to those families who have offered to take children to Jervois on Wednesday. A reminder that all students will need to wear their hats. The temperature is anticipated to be 22° on Wednesday. Go TIGERs!

Warm Regards, Rita

Counsellor Corner
What’s all the Fuss about Praise?
I read an article in the Sunday Mail’s Body and Soul magazine that reminded me of an article Rita wrote about recently. The way parents praise their kids… I think it’s very topical at the moment and I thought I would share some of the content and also some helpful tips ‘to get it right!!!’

Telling your children they’re wonderful and patting them on the head simply doesn’t cut it. Praise should be specific, genuine and age-appropriate. Michael Hawton, Psychologist and author of Talk Less, Listen More believes that parents use praise too much to get kids to do what they want them to do. He says that praise and rewards don’t ‘teach children competency or give them the self-satisfaction of a job well done’.

KidsMatter is an Australian mental health and wellbeing initiative that’s funded by the Australian Government and Beyondblue. It has some handy information on what it terms as ‘effective’ and ‘ineffective’ praise. Here are some examples:

- TOO EVALUATING: “You’re a good counter, Libby.”
- EFFECTIVE: “you’re excited about doing counting today, Libby.”
- TOO GENERAL: “Great work on the painting Yvonne.”
- COMPARATIVE: “You’ve drawn on so much more of your page than last time, Yvonne.”
- TOO REWARD-FOCUSED: “You caught the ball, Libby – you deserve a star.”
- ACKNOWLEDGES EFFORT AND FEELINGS: “You tried to catch the ball three times, Libby. You seem pleased that you did so well.”

Child Psychologist, Dr Louise Porter doesn’t even like to use the term “praise”, explaining that what kids need is “acknowledgement”.

At school, please know that we as teachers are always working hard to ‘get it right’ too!

Cheers, Kerry

As Rita mentioned in her article, we have recently made spring rolls, cauliflower/broccoli turnovers, pumpkin soup and steamed broccoli drizzled with mint sauce, all for our students to sample.
