Make yourself a cup of tea and get comfortable. There’s lots to read about.

Personal Learning

One of our mantras at Mypo is that ‘a child educated only at school is an uneducated child.’ We believe learning happens everywhere and we need to be ready to create and seize opportunities when they occur.

The year 7s have just completed their Personal Learning Projects and Holly Wachtel learned to weld, and with her father Jason, made a heater out of old truck brake drums and spanners. However, while this was fantastic, I want to share with you (with Holly’s permission) some learning about relationships.

Holly wrote: ‘I want to be a carpenter or architect, but with the skills I have learned I could be anything. Welding, grinding, drilling: I have learned so many things that other people my age have no idea about. I am so privileged to have a father who loves to build things and experiment with blacksmithing. That is another reason I wanted to do this project. Fathers spending time with their daughters is not something that you see everyday, now that phones and PlayStations have been invented. But I did get to hang out with my Dad and I had a great time. I cherish all the time I get with my Dad, we joke, muck around and, well, sometimes he is more of a kid than me. (I agree!) I also wanted to do this because I have seen how my Dad makes them and he looks like he is having a great time. He would have his music pumping and he’d be singing along with it.’

Jason taught Holly how to make a heater, but I think she learned a lot more than that.

The diversity of personal leaning, the level of engagement, and the quality of new learning and reflection by the year 7s was outstanding. A display of their work will be in the library for 2 weeks. A big thank you to Steven D’Costa who worked with the Year 6s on K’Nex to enable me to give specific individual feedback for improvement to the Year 7s over the course of their learning. The Year 6s have been so inspired by the Year 7s work that they have already asked me for the assessment rubric so that they can plan for next year.

Some More Recognition

Last week, Anne and I travelled to Renmark to participate in the Advantage SA Awards (formerly known as SA Great). We were nominated for the award by someone unknown to us, and we are very grateful for this. We won the Murraylands and Riverland Flinders University Education Award and will now be in the running for the state award, which will be announced on Friday 30th November. The beautiful trophy is on display in the Office.

We have also received the report from the Australian Business Excellence Awards. One of the best things about Frameworks such as this, and the DECD Improvement and Accountability Framework, is that they are tools which we can use to self review and put improvement processes in place. We used the ABEF in this way.

Of concern to me, was that the Evaluation Team did not understand the educational context, and to some extent I still feel that was the case. While my focus was on teaching and learning improvement, their focus was around organisational improvement. So I wasn’t very confident. I needn’t have worried! We received a bronze award (which was what Peter Chislett thought we would score) but the good news was that we were only 10 points off silver. Many of the recommendations for improvement were things we have already identified, or things which we have no control over. While I was very happy to go through this process and feel we learned a lot, it’s the kind of thing I would like to do once in a life-time. We will put this report on our website in due course.

Revegetation Project
Paul Jones, a local dairy farmer, has given us the land across the road from the school to revegetate and use as a learning experience outside of the school boundaries. Jenni Llewellyn, also a dairy farmer, through the Mypolonga Landcare Group, is helping the Sustainability Committee manage this project. This land has been difficult to access until recently. A big thank you to Ashley Martin, Georgia’s dad, and Corey Jones, Paul’s son who filled in the channel to create easy access for all students. Members of the Junior Youth Forum will lead this project but we are inviting any interested people to come on board. Just as building a heater was not just about that, the revegetation of this land is making our students more environmentally aware, and transferring classroom learning into real life, making—a—difference situations.

Opinion Surveys
Thank you so much to people who completed opinion surveys. Parental and Caregiver feedback was fantastic and when we feel appreciated it just inspires us all to try even harder. Particularly heartening were the student responses, which were amazing. All Middle and Upper Primary students responded. 75% of students strongly agreed and 25% of students agreed (100%) that ‘My school encourages students to have a sense of pride in their school.’

The results of the opinion surveys are displayed in the front office and will go up on our website shortly.

Choir
Last Monday night, I was privileged to watch our students perform in the Town Hall in the Murraylands Music Festival. I must particularly congratulate Chelsea Hagger, who did a fine job as compere, and soloists Sahara Sullivan Close, Aimee Kelly, Abbey Krueschel, Mackenzie Rathjen and Darcy Elliott. I know I am biased, but I think these students stood out.

Football Dinner
My admiration goes out to Holly W, Damon, Lexie, Chloe and Patrick, who along with Annie, Yvette, Mary and her daughter Shannon, Jacqui and Sarah worked like trojans at the Football Dinner. The Football Dinner is our equivalent of ‘Operation Flinders’, because the work is so hard, but there is such a sense of accomplishment when it is finished. At the dinner, Graeme Stegmeyer, President of the Football Club, congratulated the school on its successes and we received a standing ovation.

On November 5th, a Council Meeting will be held here at the school, for which we will cater. There will be an information session from 5:20pm-6:00pm for any interested community members, followed by supper. The Council meeting will follow that.

Warm Regards,
Rita

Counsellor's Corner

Why is sleep so important?
I recently attended a training and development day, which included a session on how important sleep is for growing bodies. I was astounded to find out that some children set their own bedtime!

There is a saying that I love and it goes like this; ‘children don’t know what they don’t know’. This is so true.

It is our job as parents to impart our knowledge. We do know best and we do what we do because it is in the best interest of our children. Children need a routine that includes an actual bedtime!

The following information has come from a Sleep Seminar Program (Australian Centre for Education in Sleep). I will be putting this information in over the next few newsletters. I hope you find it as interesting as I did.

‘As a parent, there are many things that we have to teach our kids. Be polite, eat your veggies, do your homework, be a good sport etc. etc. They are very busy with school and homework, movies to watch, games to play, sports and clubs, friends and family. Lots to do on the weekends. So where does sleep come into all this?

• Infants can’t stop it
• Toddlers and pre-schoolers don’t want it
• School aged children think it’s cool not to get it
• Adolescents don’t care if they get it
• We want more of it but can’t get it
• Our parents have time for it but often can’t do it

At your child’s age, sleep is as important for development as eating and breathing. As a growing person, your child needs a lot of sleep (9 – 12 hours per night) because they are growing at a very fast rate. They may not be getting that much sleep and if they are not, they may be ‘deprived’ of sleep. What happens then?

The program has come out of many years of study which suggests that poor sleep can SERIOUSLY affect the mental, emotional and physical development of your child.’

Stay tuned for the ‘how’, ‘what’ and ‘what if’ of sleep so you can help your child BE THE BEST THEY CAN!

Cheers, Kerry
